because maybe they won't need to support Bootcamp???? Damn skippy, and paralells is already far and away better than bootcamp: Methinks bootcamp was just a proof of concept to stir up the after market: Apple does not want to get into the wasps nest of Windows suport within virtual boxen.. But is it actually the best of both worlds or just a bag of compromises?. MS has been pulling this 'we just don't know how long it might take for us to get an Intel native version of VirtualPC out' crap.

and it can use linux as the host OS too 2: Apple needs 3rd party developers to puch innovation in OSX.. The big difference? Parallels Desktop for Mac is the world's top-rated, bestselling and most trusted solution.. Parallels for mac drains battery Yes, virtualizing Windows takes a lot of battery power—but with Parallels Desktop 11's new feature, Travel Mode, you can easily get access to Windows (no matter where you are) without sacrificing too much juice.. Bootcamp Vs Parallels Ask Question Up vote 0 down vote favorite Are there any cons to setting up bootcamp on my mac then also using parallels to link to the same VM for fast access but then rebooting into windows to have the power and speed needed for gaming.

What Parallels REALLY means to Apple One less thing Microsoft can hold over Apples head.. Well, it seems that Apple is already endorsing Parallels I mean, why not just say that a download of Boot Camp is required? Originally posted by sammick.. let Parallels and VMWare handle that; same philosophy they used with VPC in the old days; let someone else handle that.. Now with Parallels and eventually VMware it just doesn't matter It just doesn't matter.

look at tools like Dashboard and spotlight inspired by 3rd parties that were widely popular throughout the platform.. •: Designed for developers and power users who need the best performance •: Designed for IT departments, it includes centralized administration and volume licensing.. Virtualization isnt, has never been, and for the foreseeable future doesnt need to be handled by Apple because it isnt a core competency.. VPN to my office computer using PC Anywhere 4 Parallels For Mac Activation KeySynchronize with Outlook and then somehow synchronize again with OSX applications, calendar, contacts etc.. Originally posted by NOFEER apple should buy parallels NOOOOO -- 2 huge reasons: 1: Parallels is windows and linux friendly too and thus competing with VMware, but for much less, of course this will not hit the ESX type VMWare market, but it will beat the shit out of MS VPC 2004 in Windows.. You may have heard of them—we sure do talk about them a lot—but hey, can you blame us? Both are perfect fits for people who work remotely.
